

Liam (McTaggart) Picks His Nose Like constantly

Okay, now that
you're alive,
)

I need to tell you
about one of life's
greatest um...
)

maybe not a "joy",
but it's a beautiful thing.
)

Not much else can
be explored the same
way, and I'll never
learn everything
about it before I die.
)

Of course, I'm talking
about nose picking.
)

Sometimes you get to discreetly pick in
public if it's crusty
and like right
at the edge.
)

It just looks like
you're scratching for a second. That's not what I'm talking about.
)

I'm talkin' reeeally
gettin' in there.
)

There's like three or four different kinds of boogers you can
get out of there.
)

There's like the gooey,
but dry kind, which
is pretty standard.
)

Clear all those out of
there, roll em up and
flick em, you know.
)

Even if it takes
a few tries.
)

There's the crusty
stuff, even easier.
)

There's the uh, very wet... like your finger just comes out wet, with no discernible booger...

But! Roll it around on your jeans anyway. If you work at it, it'll dry seamlessly, I promise.

And a teeny lil booger actually will roll out of it.

Not that you were dying for something to flick, but it's interesting and feels more satisfying maybe.

There's also... usually on the septum side, nearer the center, maybe it's easier in the morning,

you can get a piece that kinda looks like a sheet of skin.

If you just snag a tiny thing in that area and pull slowly, you can sometimes pull out like...

like two inches of booger skin that was apparently just like lining your airway.

God, how do people not pick their noses all the time?

Well I do, damn it. Me. Liam McTaggart.

Yeah, boogers are pretty darn different in the morning.

Sometimes I'll just be sitting in bed after waking up, and I'll just breathe weird and shoot a sizeable booger onto my arm or something.

And I'd probably just let it sit there until I actually feel like getting up.

It's also crazy, like sometimes I'll just wipe my nose along my arm, maybe more to scratch it, and I'll get like a big chunk out of there - kinda like I actually picked it out,

but like... the side of my arm probably wasn't digging very deep in there.

Of course, the best finger to use is your pinky. Use your pinky.

We'd all love to use out pointer fingers, but...

